700 VERMONTERS

ATE MAPLE SUGAR

Great Gathering of Vermont Association Was Held In Boston Saturday Evening.

Boston, April 14.—One shivered as one glanced the banks of driven snow, as one stepped from the rainstorm into Horticultural hall Saturday evening, the wind whistling down through the palm trees.

Yes, the Back Bay was snowbound; but each snowbank was framed by a tinpan spick and span. They brought the driven snow down from the Green mountains for the annual "sugaring-off" of the Vermont Association of Boston.
For nearly 700 who gathered around many snowbanks, just the snow itself was a sort of welcome surprise after such a warm winter in these parts.

But even more welcome was the maple syrup that one spilled niftily into one's own snowbank and then gathered up neatly in a spoon—that is, if one was Vermont bred. If one traced one's ancestry back to the south shore or other points in the short lobster belt, one didn't always connect with the knack of spooning up the cooled syrup at the start.

Fresh from the "run" at Fairfield, they brought down—O, many gallons, besides 250 pounds of maple sugar. Myran J.
Cochran supervised the "boiling down" for several hours, so that the sap had just sufficient "thickness" for sugaring-off.

Then they had cider and doughnuts and cheese, so everybody was pretty busy till "Larry" Gardner, the Red Sox third baseman, came in. "Larry," who comes from Enosburg Falls, joined the association last year, but Saturday evening was the first time many members had an opportunity of extending him a welcome.

After everybody had satisfied himself that this year's "run" of maple syrup tasted better than any time since he tried it under the trees up in the maple forest primeval, the rest of the evening was spent in dancing.

In the dance hall the decorations included the Vermont and Massachusetts state flags. The affair was directed by the association's entertainment committee, comprising George M. Dimond, chairman; Charles H. Bradley, jr., Frank W.
Campbell, Myron J. Cochran, Charles F.
Hurlburt, L. Leonard Pearl, Edward H.
Rugg, Frederick A. Sanderson, R. M.
Beck and Harry R. Wellman.

Others prominent in perfecting the plans were Col. Everett C. Benton, president; Elmer E. Silver and David T. Montague, vice presidents; Arthur W. De-Gosh, secretary; Roland E. Chafey, treasurer; Charles H. Bradley, George W.
Holden, Timothy E. Byrnes, Carroll W.
Doten, Scott C. Carbee and Irving L.
Rich.

NATIVE OF LYNDON.

Harley H. Graves, Many Years a Hotel Keeper, Dead at Athol, Mass.

Athol, Mass., April 14.—Harley H.
Graves, for many years an Athol hotel man, died from dropsy Saturday afternoon at the Summit house at Athol Highlands. He had been in failing health for several years.

Mr. Graves was nearly 62 years of age and was born in Lyndon, Vt. He had lived in Athol at one time or another for 25 years, all of the time as proprietor of either the Summit house at Athol Highlands or of the City hotel in the lower village. He had been a notel man more than 40 years and was at one time located in Orange.

His wife died just a year ago and his only daughter about eight weeks ago.
Mr. Graves leaves two brothers, Edward of Lyndonville, Vt., and Will Graves of Athol, and one sister, Mrs.
C. M. Briggs, all of Athol.

The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon at 2 at the Summit house.
Rev. I. W. Grimes of the Baptist church will officiate.

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

A baby carriage with a baby in it was left in front of a Winoski store Friday while its mother was inside shopping. A gust of wind took the carriage to the curb and upset it. The baby was picked up crying, but unhurt and about that time its mother arrived on the scene.

W. P. Willey, for seven years superintendent of the Essex Junction water department, died Friday, from the results of a shock. Mr. Willey was a carpenter by trade, being employed in the Hunter & Shinn paper mills for 30 years. When he turned in 1885 he was foreman.

As Albert Champeney, a section boss, was looking after the long fill between Burlington and South Hero, he discovered the road was impassable, caused by a washout. Just then he heard an oncoming freight and had barely time to seize his lights and signal the train to stop before it reached the dangerous place.

A balky horse owned by R. Rublee, stationed itself on the railroad crossing in Enosburg just as a train was approaching the station. The team was heavily loaded with grain and there was something of a predicament. Two men ran down the track and stopped the train, and after it had come to a standstill the horse decided to move on.

G. Downs of South Quebec, aged 28 years and unmarried, suffered a serious accident in the Canadian Pacific railway freight yard in Richmond Thursday. He was coupling cars, when in some way he fell beneath the car wheels and the left leg was run over and so badly injured that amputation was necessary five inches from the body.

One day last week $20 was stolen from a money bag in the store of J. F.
Allen & Son in Brattleboro, and last Thursday a letter was received which contained $15 and was marked with the one word, "Restitution." As the amount is $35 short and the guilty person is thought to be known, the authorities are waiting to see if the other $5 is not returned, thereby saving an arrest.

MOCK TRIAL GIVEN.

As Feature of Complimentary Banquet to Coming Benedict.

White River Junction, April 14.—A complimentary banquet in honor of his approaching marriage was tendered State's Attorney Raymond J. Trainor at the Junction house Saturday night.
It was attended by nearly 100 guests.

The affair was arranged by the following committee, working with the State's Attorney: J. L. Davis, A. L.
Lomas, A. H. Hough, B. F. Adams, P. E. Adams, M. J. Walsh and F. H.
Perkins. The toastmaster was G. E.
Mann.

Mr. Trainor was presented a mahogany-cased clock with chimes, and a unique program by local talent furnished much amusement.

There was music by an orchestra, sponsored by C. L. LeBourveau and G. B.
Carpenter and a burlesque trial called "Not Guilty," with the scene laid at the Windsor county court. The cast: Sheriff J. H. Kiniry, M. J. Walsh; clerk
J. Read Pember, Alfred E. Watson; William Batchelder, attorney for the defense; G. B. Carpenter, attorney for the prosecution; R. P. Lynde; Judge Maxham, C. L.
LeBourveau; Judge Buck, F. W. Adams;
State's Attorney Raymond J. Trainor,
A. H. Hough; witnesses, R. F. Wells and C. A. Juckett. A jury was selected from the guests at the tables.

ACCEPTS ST. JOHNSBURY CALL.

Rev. L. E. Peabody To Become Pastor At Paddock's Village.

St. Johnsbury, April 14.—The Advent Christian church, the only church in the part of St. Johnsbury known as Paddock's Village, has extended a call to Rev. L. E. Peabody of Morrisville, who has accepted and will begin his pastorate here on Sunday, April 20.

Mr. Peabody was born in Newport, Feb. 9, 1867. On Feb. 9, 1888, he married Miss Clara J. Dunham of Troy, and for many years their home was in Newport. In 1908 they moved to Johnsbury, and in 1910 he accepted a call to the pastorate of the Advent Christian church at Morrisville, which he has held until the present time. He was ordained to the ministry at Fitch Bay, Quebec, Oct. 8, 1910.

The Pony Express.

A romantic achievement and one that appeals powerfully to the imagination is commemorated by the memorial that has just been erected at St. Joseph, on the Missouri river. Early in the April of 1860 a rider on a fleet black horse started with a mail pouch on the first stage of the 1908-mile ride for the Pacific coast. Cannon were fired as he dashed away. Flags and bands greeted him as he ended his twenty miles, having used two horses, and done the distance in 50 minutes. At the same hour a white horse had left Sacramento for the East.
One stretch of the westward trip called for six relays of horses and covered 120 miles. The riders carried letters for the whole Pacific coast, for the Russian possessions, the Sandwich Islands, and the countries of the Orient. The route lay through Fort Laramie, Salt Lake City and Carson City. And those riders beat the time of the Southern Overland mail company by two weeks.

With the coming of the war and the country watching for news, the pony express did more remarkable things still.
The news of the firing on Sumter was carried on horseback from the Missouri to the Pacific in eight days and fourteen hours. When the story of Antietam, in a bundle of Chicago papers, was brought ahead of the schedule into Sacramento $300 was subscribed for the daring riders. The quickest trip on record was seven days and seventeen hours, with the first inaugural of Lincoln in the mail bags.

There was danger in these rides. The route lay through lonely and weird regions, infested with hostile Indians.
Sometimes riders were scalped and not infrequently horses were drowned, but always the mail was saved. "Mark Twain" has painted a thrilling picture of those riders, and "Buffalo Bill" was one of the boy riders. There were eighty of them in all, and often forty would be coming east while the other forty were going west. Their bags were limited to twenty pounds in weight, and their letters were written on thin tissue paper, on which the charges often amounted to several dollars. Horses had to be changed in two minutes, and often the time was reduced to ten seconds. Considering the nature of the country through which these reckless young horsemen passed theirs was a remarkable performance.

They made their contribution to the progress of the West that was and now is going forward, and they deserve to be remembered not only on the banks of the Missouri, but in all parts of the country which they helped to knit into one community.—Boston Herald.
